

What does family mean to you?

Win an animated film telling your story!

Families come in all kinds of shapes and sizes, and we'd like to hear about yours!

Over the last 50 years, family shape has changed a lot. Now when people talk about their family, they could be referring to their biological or adopted family, a nuclear or blended family, their friends, their community or even their fur babies! Whatever your family looks like, we'd love you to tell us all about them.

To be in with a chance at turning your family story into a short animated film produced by Pearldrop Video Productions, tell us what your family means to you in no more than 500 words.
